Payable to Yale – tuition and other program fees, which are billed directly to your Yale student account; detailed payment instructions are available online and in your My CIPE account.

Additional Expenses – while not payable to Yale, these additional expenses are based on standard amounts set each year for International Summer Award (ISA) budget purposes and should be included in your overall budget planning. Costs may vary (either higher or lower than the estimates) based on individual flights, where you purchase meals that are not included in the program, and any personal travel you undertake outside of the program's structured activities.
